Certent Introduces Next-Generation Disclosure Management User Experience

Pleasanton, CA – June 6, 2016 – Certent, Inc., a leading provider of software-as-a-service (SaaS) solutions for financial disclosure and equity compensation management, announces the immediate availability of its next-generation Disclosure Management cloud-based user experience.

The enhanced Certent Disclosure Management user experience includes significant investments to platform architecture and technical infrastructure to increase application speed and accelerate future software development. In addition to the structural advances, the application boasts a new, modern interface, a more intuitive menu structure, and a dashboard that provides greater visibility into the status of financial disclosure projects and reports. Clients will also benefit from easier access to additional Certent applications including the Section 16 Form Filer, the peer company Disclosure Research solution, and the Certent Customer Community.

“Our new Disclosure Management user experience provides clients with an intuitive solution that shaves time off the laborious financial reporting processes, improves collaboration, and enables users to have better visibility into the progress and workflows of their disclosure documents,” said Michael Madigan, senior vice president of product management and strategy for Certent. “The new experience was developed using customer feedback and working with a leading UX design firm to modernize our solution and help our clients get their work done faster.”

The new features and interface build upon Certent’s expansion of its financial compliance capabilities to streamline the SEC reporting process, improve productivity, and strengthen controls and compliance. Most recently, Certent launched Financial Connectors - direct connections to NetSuite, Microsoft Dynamics, Oracle, SAP, and other major ERP, CPM, and consolidation systems to help clients ensure data accuracy and automate the flow of information. The future product roadmap focuses on leveraging cloud-based advancements from Microsoft such as Office 365® and Office Online Server. This evolution heightens collaboration, maximizes workflow efficiency, and simplifies the review and approval process within familiar Microsoft® tools.
